FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

LOCKE LORD BISSELL & LIDDELL DALLAS ATTORNEY ELECTED TO THE AMERICAN LAW INSTITUTE

(DALLAS) November 26, 2008 – Cited for his professional achievements and demonstrated interest in law reform, C. Paul Rogers, an Of Counsel based in the Dallas office of Locke Lord Bissell & Liddell, and a Professor at Southern Methodist University School of Law, was one of 79 new members recently elected to the Council of The American Law Institute (ALI), a national organization of legal academics and practitioners devoted to contributing to the health of the legal system in the United States and around the world. The process of being elected to the ALI is rigorous, and membership (4,152) is exclusive.

Rogers focuses on antitrust litigation and counseling arising under the Sherman, Clayton, and Robinson-Patman Acts. He has worked with a wide variety of clients in the manufacturing, health care, energy, telecommunications, nonprofit, technology, franchisor, and service provider industries. Rogers has nearly 30 years of consulting experience in antitrust matters with numerous companies, including those in the Fortune 500. Rogers has frequently written for journals and given CLE presentations on antitrust topics. His antitrust casebook, now in its fourth edition, is used in many law schools across the country. Rogers is a former instructor at the Loyola University of Chicago School of Law. He received his Master of Laws degree from Columbia Law School, where he was a Krulewitch Fellow; his law degree from The University of Texas School of Law; and his Bachelor of Arts degree from The University of Texas at Austin.
